lege of Virginia.

DR. W. E. EVANS THE ORATOR

Dr. Tompkins Awarded the New Physicians Their Diplomas at the Academy-A Splendid Banquet at the Temple.

Before one of the most splended au-diences ever filling the Academy of Music from pit to dome upon an occasion of similar character, the commencement ex ercises of the Medical College of Virginia were held last night. The scene upon the stage, where were seated, surrounding the members of the graduating class some of the most prominent men of the medical profession in the South, was one of inspiration, bespeaking the place this splendid institution holds in the hearts of the people of Virginia.

Banks of cut flowers hid the bareness of the stage and covered the railing of the orchestra pit in profusion. When the incoming audience had been seated, and the strans of the orchestra's prelude had ceased, Rev. R. M. Chandler, D. D., opened the evening's programme with prayer. The awarding of diplomas and the announcement of hospital appointments by Dr. Christopher Tompkins followed, and the exercises closed with a most scholarly and eloquent address by Dr. W. E. Evans, rector of Monumental Episcopal Church.

DR. TOMPKINS' ADDRESS. Dr. Tompkins, dean of the faculty, in his brief address before awarding the diplomas, said:

plomas, said:
"Ladies and Gentlemen: We have assembled here to-night to celebrate the commencement exercises of the sixty-fourth annual session of the Medical College of Virginia. In looking back and reviewing our progress from year to year, we are greatly impressed with the fact that our recent successes have far surpased all that have come to us be-fore. Our enrollment of students is larger than ever. Our equipment is in-creased, and we are shout to assume larger than ever. Our equipment is in-creased, and we are about to assume medical and surgical control of the noble Memorial Hospital, established by gen-erous citizens whose names are well known to you, but, above all, and what erous citizens whose names are well known to you, but, above all, and what we most gratefully appreciate, is that we have the respect and confidence of medical teachers, of the profession and of the people generally, not only of our own State, but of the whole country. You have all seen the Memorial Hespital now in process of erection. I will not undertake to describe its plan and equipment, for it is rapidly approaching completion and you will soon have an opportunity at its public dedication to witness yourselves what a splendid gift has been bestowed upon humanity. In common with all other medical schools in the South, that have made the change from a three years' to a four years' course, which change affects the graduating class of this session. The number of graduates this year is necessarily small—since those who, under the former condition, would graduate this year become transferred next year, when we will, no doubt, have the usual number of graduates. I have now the honor and pleasure to confer the degree of doctor of medicine upon the gentlemen whose names I proceed to call.

THE NEW DOCTORS.

He called these names amid the appliance of the audience:

He called these names amid the applause of the audience: Charles James Andrews, Alfred Sidney Charles James Andrews, Aifred Sidney Black, Celus Gregory Ferebee, William Flegenheimer, Jr., Ashton Harwood, John McGwin, Emlyn Harrison Marsteller, Jr., Thomas Erle Rucker, Edward Sandidge, W. Macon Smiley, Robert Slaughter Tal-bot, John Thurston Thornton and George Felox, Williams

Esley Williams. Esley Williams.

After congratulating these young gentlemen upon having obtained the honors to which they aspired and faithfully labored, Dr. Thompkins announced the hospital appointments as follows:

To the Old Dominion Hospital, Richmond, Va., Dr. C. G. Ferebee and Dr.

T. Erle Rucker.
To the Retreat for the Sick, Richmond, Va., Dr. R. S. Talbot.

To the City Almshouse, Richmond, Va.,
Dr. William Flegenheimer, Jr., and Dr. Edward Sandridge.
To the United States Marine Hospita

Boston, Mass., Dr. E. H. Marseteller, Jr. To St. Vincent's Hospital, Norfolk, Va., C. J. Andrews. To Norfolk Protestant Hospital, Norfolk, Va., Dr. R. C. Jurney.

OTHER GRADUATES.
Next he conferred the degree of Doctor of Dental Surgery upon the following: Charles Williams Anderson, Richard Booth, William Chappell Flake and Nathaniel Thomas Holland.

The degree of Graduates in Pharmacy ras awarded the following: Franklin Porter Best, John Bane Crock-ett, George Thomas Hogg, Arthur Hooks, James Edward Stryker, Elijah Keeling

These appointments were received with the greatest demonstration on the part of the student element, which so largely constituted the audience, and it was some time before silence could be had. During this prolonged applause the ush-ers were busily engaged bestowing upon the graduates and those receiving ap-pointments the burdens of flowers, which buried them from the view of the audi-ence for the remainder of the evening.

DR EVANS' ADDRESS.

Introducing Dr. W. E. Evans, the final orator of the evening, Dr. Tompkins said:

"I have now the honor of introducing the orator of the occasion, a gentleman whose character and abilities are so universally recognized that it is unnecessary for me to do more than present him to you. Ladies and gentlemen, the Rev. Dr. William E. Evans.

Rev. Dr. William E. Evans.

Dr. Evans' address was eloquent and scholarly, holding the audience for an hour in the closest attention. His subject was the "Dynamics of Germs, or the Potentiality of the Insignificant." He treated his subject humorously in the first part of his address, but turning to its more serious side showed from historical force, what great revolutions its more serious side showed from historical facts what great revolutions, changes and discoverles had had their beginning in most insignificant events.
He said the germ of the war with Spain lay in the beet. From this he enlarged, showing the international complications growing out of the beet-sugar industry, which led to the Maine's being sent to which led to the Maine's being sent to Cuba and its subsequent destruction. So he treated many great world-changing events, Closing, Dr. Evans paid a beautiful tribute to the beloved family physician, picturing his place in the hearts of his people and the ties binding him to their lives. He said: "Young gentlemen, let your lives be so in your practice that people will say you are our good

The exercises were concluded with a prayer by Rev. Dr. R. M. Chandler.

BANQUET AT TEMPLE. Wit and Eloquence Marked Speeches at

A more elaborate banquet graced by the presence of more distinguished gen-tlemen in and out of the medical profession never marked the close of the year's Temple.

The various toasts were responded to in speeches remarkable in eloquence, wit and good humor. There were seated at the table nearly three hundred persons, representing the medical profession, the law and the laity, all of whom with one accord drained their glasses of the sparkling wine to the glory of the "old College."

Democrats Getting Ready for An Aggressive Campaign.

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, May 8.—The Democratic Congressional Committee to-night adopted a resolution authorizing the chairman, Lepresentative Griggs, of Geor-gia, to appoint a campaign committee of eleven members, six of whom shall be members of the Congressional Committee. The Congressional Committee is to have power to choose its own chairman. It had been expected that the organization would be completed and announced to-night, with ex-Representative Ben T. Cable, of Illinois, as chairman of the Con-gressional Committee, and Lewis Nixon, of New York, chairman of the Finance Committee, but this went over until Mr. Griggs completes the membership of the Congressional Committee. It is understood that Mr. Cable is now in New York arranging with prominent Democrats to accept places on the committee. Officers were selected as follows:

Secretary, Charles A. Edwards, of St. Louis. Treasurer, James L. Norris, of Washington. Sergeant-at-Arms, J. J. Sinott and W. W. Marmaduke, of Virginia.

A committee to prepare congressional literature was designated as follows: Senator Carmack, of Tennessee; resentatives Bandall, of Texas; F son, of Nebraska; Seener, of Indiana; Finley, of South Carolina, and F. H. Finley, of South Carolina, and F. H. Hosford.

Annual Banquet.

work at the Medical College of Virginia than the one last night at the Masonic

It was 1 o'clock before the menu had been served and the speechmaking of the occasion began. Hon. Beverley T. Crump, who presided as toasimaster, with an appropriate tribute to the college and the men at its head, announced as the first speaker Lieutenant-Governor Joseph E. Willard, who, in the absence of Governor Montague, spoke to the toast, "Medicine and the State." After speaking in most complimentary terms of the medical profession, he endorsed most cloquently the policy of the State in making the appropriation to the Medical College of Virginia, and said he had always, while in the Senate, cast his vote College of Virginia, and said he had always, while in the Senate, cast his vote for the measure. To the graduating class he wished them a continuation of their success. Hon. E. C. Folkes, to the theme "Medicine and the Law," eloquently referred to the strength of such a union. Though not announced on the banquet card a teast to "Medicine and Science". Though not announced on the banquet card, a toast to "Medicine and Science" was responded to by Professor W. M. Thornton, of the University of Virginia.

Mr. John Williams, speaking to the toast, "Medicine and Culture," spoke of the high manhood which should be the aim of every physician, and in closing proposed a toast, which was drunk stand-ous pictures of physicians' mistakes at ous pictures of physicians' mistakes at their expense.

"Medicine from the Threshold" was responded to by Dr. C. J. Andrews, of the graduating class.
Dr. Coley, of New York, was called upon and spoke in the highest praise of the college and its work hore.
Mr. William Richards sang at the close his famous drinking song.
Among the alumni attending the banquet were:

Drs. O. W. Knight, Oliverville, Va.; E. N. Lillard, Standardsville; A. Pilkington, Philadelphia; Isaac Curd, Richmond; R.

Cane, Richmond.

The Alumni Society of the Medical Coilege of Virginia decided at its morning session, held at the college, to launch a medical journal, which shall be published in Richmond under the auspices of the Alumni Society. This step has been contemplated by the society for some time, and will be made a journal of influence in the South. The editors elected vesterday morn, it were Dr. Greet. elected yesterday morn. 15 were Dr. Greer Baughman, editor in chief; Dr. Greiner, assistant editor; Dr. Charles R. Robins, and others, who will constitute the staff, will be chosen later.

It is the purpose of the gentlemen placed in charge of this journal to make it one which will inherit and reach the medical men in all parts of the country.

Contributions will be had from men in all sections, and in no sense will it be made a paper explusively for the clumpic.
